The DIMMER VIEW

Guide to Better Voting

At each election-time we offer guidance to "undecided" voters. Candidates and issues are chosen on the basis that voter approval would best serve the public.

This newspaper follows the Republican philosophy and on the matter of candidates, there is a tinge of GOP-ism. Yet, we are endorsing more Democrats than Republicans. And for the first time there is one on which we are undecided — the Chacon-Bridge contest. Both are extremely attractive candidates.

City Eyes $400,000 In Federal Funds

Some of the 15 or so persons who attended Lemon Grove City's informal community meeting Monday night at the Community Center had some ideas on how to spend $200,000 the City will receive in federal revenue sharing funds.

Proposals included a horse ring, an expanded counseling service, fire hydrants, resurfaced tennis courts at school, sidewalks in school area, Little League ballfield lighting and parking improvements in the business sector.

These matters were then discussed Tuesday noon at the City Council's "brown bag" meeting. Jack Shelver, city manager said that the suggestions, together with others that will come in written form, will be added to an "array of projects" that will be supplied by City staff.

"There are few strings attached to the funds," Shelver noted. Generally, they will be used in environmental (such as landscaping and some recreational uses) and functional (drainage, sidewalks, curbs).

Another $200,000 will come to the City in Community Block Grant funds from the Housing and Urban Development Dept. These funds must be used in areas where at least half of the population is in the low and moderate income brackets. ($10,000 or less annual income).

Brown baggers heard Steve Sachs, a senior regional planner for the Comprehensive Planning Organization discuss a regional energy plan. He said cities (and people) must reduce use of electricity for all purposes and gas for heating.

Kiwanis Sell Lotsa Apples; More Available

There are obviously a lot of happy apple-lovers in Lemon Grove and neighboring areas, as the Lemon Grove Kiwanis report they sold 1,154 cases of 100 apples each during their recent Apple Days.

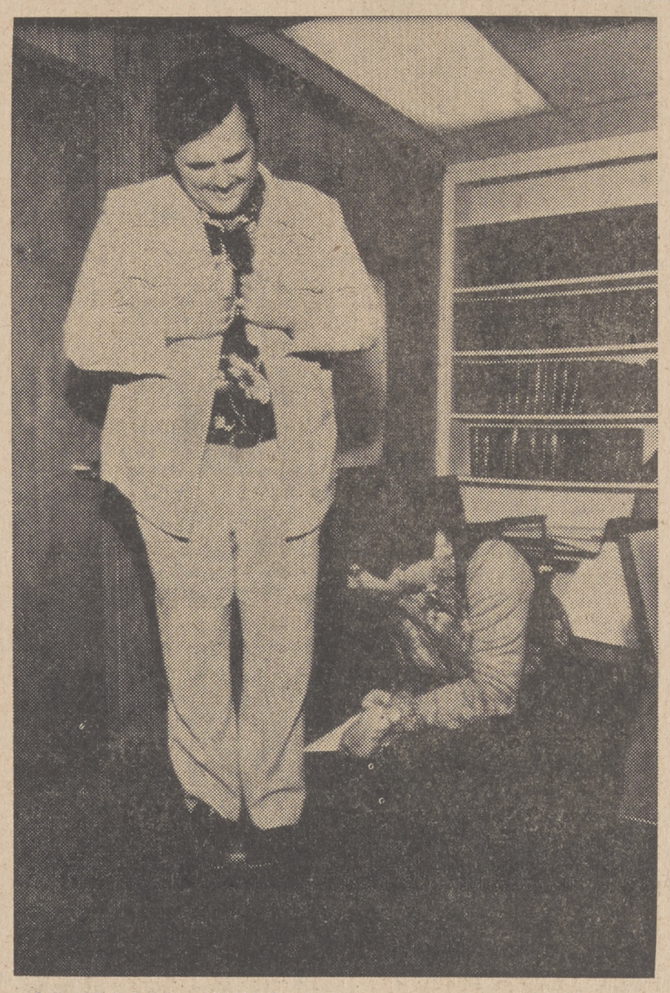
The group expects to show about $4,000 clear profit, said Kiwanis apple co-chairman Louis Poluzzi. At the selling price of $14 per case, more than $16,000 was taken in.

Apple Days profits go entirely for various community activities to which the Kiwanis donate, Poluzzi added, including the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley Nutrition Project, Pop Warner, Little League and the Salvation Army, among others.

"We donated $5,000 to community activities last year," he said.

While no more Kiwanis apples will be available in Lemon Grove, both Poluzzi and his co-chairman Jerry McReynolds will be taking additional orders for cases of 100 ($14), half cases ($7) and quarter-cases ($3.50). Orders will not be filled until a minimum total order of 10 cases is accumulated.

Orders can be placed by calling Poluzzzi at 466-7664 or McReynolds at 463-7102.



'OH, MY GOD, JOHN!" — Lemon Grove City Clerk Karen Thomson, right, can't believe her eyes as she records the weight of John Stenbeck, city planning commissioner, at Monday's "weigh-in" to launch the First Annual Get The Fat Out Of Lemon Grove Campaign. Both have weight-loss goals for the two-month campaign of 25 pounds.

LG Fatties Pledge Weight-Loss Effort

Jarvis and Gann may have tried to get the fat out of government by slashing its taxing power, but city officials and business leaders in Lemon Grove are taking a much more direct approach.

A group of them are determined to lose up to 25 pounds each, and are asking others both to join them and to "sponsor" the mass diet by pledging at least 10 cents per pound of weight loss

All money raised between now and Dec. 31 will go toward "some kind of community beautification project," said City Clerk Karen Thomson, one of the ringleaders of the First Annual Get The Fat Out Of Lemon Grove Campaign.

In addition to money pledged, the participants have agreed to pay into the fund $1 for each pound of their weight-loss goal they don't achieve by the end of 1978.

The campaign was launched at a "weigh-in" at City Hall Monday morning, and a similar ceremony will be held at 9 a.m. every Monday to check the campaign's progress.

Participants, so far, and their weight-loss goals are:

Jesse Entreken, city building inspector, 20 pounds; Annamarie Padula, city business license inspector, 15 pounds; Dr. Robert Burns, vice mayor, 25 pounds; Olin Thompson, president of the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce, 20 pounds; Karen Thomson, city clerk, 25 pounds; Vicky Morgan, Chamber of Commerce secretary and a trustee of the Lemon Grove School District, 15 pounds.

Also John Stenbeck, member of the planning commission, 25 pounds; City Manager Jack Shelver, 20 pounds; Charlie Lewis, engineer for the city fire department, 10 pounds and Jerry McReynolds, also a fire engineer, 20 pounds.

Citizens are urged to join the campaign, both as sponsors and weight-loss participants, Mrs. Thomson said. Sponsor sheets are available at City Hall, 3568 Main St.

L.G. City Gets $67,000 for City

More than $67,000 was pumped into the tax return pipelines this week for the City of Lemon Grove. The money is the combined apportionment for October of cigarette taxes, highway users taxes and the motor vehicle license fees.

Highway users return was $27,385; cigarette taxes, $8,221 and motor license fees, $31,449.

By comparison, San Marcos drew $34,200; Imperial Beach $48,700; Carlsbad, $79,400 and Coronado $42,000.

But in Winter

In the summer, temperatures in Siberia are between 50 and 65 degrees.

All Mid-Block Street Lights To Be Doused By L.G. Council

Several items of unusual interest are on the Lemon Grove City Council agenda for the Monday meeting at the Community Center on School In., at 7:30 p.m.

One of the matters will concern the Community Center itself.

Council will be asked to adopt a resolution to accept 3 Federal Community Block Grants during the next 12 months worth a total of $140,000.

$100,000 of it will be earmarked for doubling the size of the Community Center; $60,000 will go for drainage, curbs, sidewalks and gutters on streets between Broadway and North.

$10,000 will go for a pedestrian crosswalk light between Grove and Imperial aves. Senior citizens and others who use the Center have urged the City to enlarge and improve it.

Of equal importance to many will be the dousing of the City's street lights. Because many items supported by property taxes are being dropped and street lights is one of them, mid-block lights are scheduled to be turned off.

Lighting taxing districts which had been formed to pay for street lights will continue to exist but the taxes have been eliminated, so the district won't help.

One solution is for mid-block residents to get one neighbor to accept responsibility for paying the monthly cost of $7.22 to keep the light burning and others could share in that cost. However, one person must assume the responsibility.

Jack Shelver, city manager, whose home is mid-block, wants his street light to remain. He said he is meeting with neighbors who will want to share in the cost.

Shelver warned that S.D. Gas & Electric should be contacted before the light is disconnected. The firm is scheduled to canvass each neighborhood before the turnoff, he said. He also suggested that other mid-block residents consider the same thing.

The City has no surplus nor tax base to pay the cost of the lights. "We will keep intersection lights burning through June," he said. "We'll have to find an alternate method of financing them then."

On Monday there will also be a report from the Undergrounding Committee regarding the next project. The project will put electric lines underground from Olive to Massachusetts at a cost of $104,000. The cost will be paid by S.D. Gas & Electric Co. out of allocations that have accrued to Lemon Grove by charges added to local utility bills. Property owners must pay to run the lines underground to their property.

The repaving of Broadway, which the County had planned to do in the next few months, may have to be deferred a year because of the undergrounding, Shelver said, to avert having to dig up a freshly paved thoroughfare.

The public is urged to hear or take part in all council proceedings, Shelver said.

Home is Not a Castle

5 Arrested, 3 Hospitalized In S.V. In-Home Battle

It had the elements of a grade B, Saturday night television movie.

6 males, including 2 juveniles, invaded the home of a Spring Valley couple, breaking windows and kicking in a chain-locked door and terrorizing the family.

Eventually, 5 persons were arrested and one escaped. All face felony charges of conspiracy, burglary and assault.

The invasion came Sunday night about 8:30.

Earlier, about 7 p.m., a group of approximately 12 had gathered around their pickup truck at the intersection of Kelburn and Elkelton blvd. in Spring Valley and engaged in scuffling, and shouting which included obscenities, according to reports by sheriff's deputies of the Lemon Grove office.

Nearby, Rex Merideth, 24, 8895 Kelburn ave. went outside to investigate the noise. So did Jeffery Rogers, across the street at 8896 Kelburn.

The group engaged the two residents by leveling obscenities at them, officers said. They then attacked Rogers and Merideth ran to his house and grabbed a shotgun at which time they stopped beating on Rogers and left, threatening to come back and get Rogers.

About an hour later they returned, armed with clubs. Rogers stood outside the Merideth home to reason with the invaders. Merideth went inside to get his shotgun but the invaders had forced Rogers into the front room of the Merideth home where Rogers was punched and choked by 3 men while one held a knife against his throat.

After a struggle, Rogers got free and the beseiged men forced the 3 invaders from the house and bolted the door. Moments later another man crashed through the front window allegedly yelling, "I'll kill you and your whole family. We'll burn your house down."

Merideth crashed his shotgun over the man's head, breaking the stock. Merideth's family, his wife 22-year old Renee, 5 months pregnant and their 18-month old son, were huddled in terror in a back bedroom. With the odds 2 on 2, with the window-crasher incapacitated, the remaining two invaders were forced from the house and the door chain-locked. The door was kicked open.

Deputies had left after the 7 o'clock altercation but returned while the renewed fracas was in progress.

Arrested were Daniel Allen Jones, 22, no address; Verlin Lee Hebner, 21, 4233 College ave., S.D., John Martin Geneva, 8886 Lance st., S.V. and 2 juveniles. Jones and Hebner were transported to a hospital due to fight injuries and Geneva to County Jail. Rogers was also hospitalized by injuries from the fight.

Detective Tom Zoll said that there was no gang involvement but it was not ascertained why the group had formed or why the hostility took place when and where it did.

Unclaimed Estates' Owners Being Sought

State Controller Ken Cory has reported that the proceeds from liquidation of 418 unclaimed estates with a total value of $902.687 were received by his office during the months of July, August and September, and are being held in safekeeping for the rightful owners.

"During our custody of this property our principal goal will be to restore it to the legal owners," Cory said. "Inquiries about any of the estates should be directed to State Controller, Division of Unclaimed Property, P.O. Box 1019, Sacramento, 95805."

Estates are taken by the State if unclaimed 5 years after being turned over to the Controller. On September 30, the Controller was in custody of an accumulation of 11,431 estates valued at $12,241,534 and still subject to claim.

In San Diego County 12 estates valued at approximately $30,000 have been listed.

They are: Anne Michael Cuddy, $10,795; Uda Frederick Gilbert, $1,086; Mabel Catherine Lawrence, $3,487; Gertrude M. McCartney, $1,565; John Joseph Michaels, $4,811; John Hardress O'Donnell, $2,708; Walter Magnus Otter, $2,852; Jard Raul, $2,256; Thad A. Rose, $1,729.

In other counties, several estates at nearly $50,000 have been listed.

PROUD AS PUNCH — Although they won't get their silver plaque until February, officials and friends of Lemon Grove's V.F.W. post 2082 are tickled pink over the letter notifying them the post has won the V.F.W.'s Community Activities National Award of Excellence for supervised teen dances and parties held at the post home, 2885 Imperial Ave. Left to right are Ralph Woodock, post commander; Marguerite Ford, president of the ladies' auxiliary; and frequent dance attenders Tanya Bair, 15, and John Bair, 16, both students at Mt. Miguel High School.

National Award to Post 2082

LG VFW Wins Recognition

KANSAS CITY — Lemon Grove's V.F.W. Post 2082 has won the organization's Community Activities National Award of Excellence, it was announced by V.F.W. Commander in Chief Eric Sandstrom.

A silver plaque accompanied the award.

This top national V.F.W. honor for community service went to the Post and its Ladies Auxiliary for conducting since 1973 supervised teen dances and parties at the Post home. To date, nearly $18,000 has been spent conducting the monthly affair.

The V.F.W. National Board of Judges said: "Clearly evident is that these dances, which draw an average of 250 teenagers monthly, have significantly reduced the formerly serious local problem of juvenile delinquency. By providing such structured, regular entertainment, you are helping not only those young persons who attend but your community."

Commander-in-Chief Sandstrom, in congratulating the local V.F.W. members on winning their award, commented: "Too often neglected these days are those American youngsters at the awkward stage of being teenagers. While adults can go to their clubs and children can take in a movie, teenagers often need something more. Recognizing this need in your community and then doing something positive about it helps your friends and neighbors recognize that the V.F.W. represents a truly valuable community asset. I commend you for your outstanding program and urge your continued efforts."

How to Keep Them Down

Your Medical Bills

When To Find A Doctor

Health care costs are rising —alarmingly. To provide some ways to keep your medical bills from overwhelming your budget, in the coming weeks we will publish a series of articles, provided by the California Medical Association (26,000 members) under the title "Your Medical Bills— How to Keep Them Down."

The best time to find a doctor is when you're well. By waiting until illness strikes, you may find yourself going to a hospital emergency room (ER) — and there are disadvantages to doing so.

Provision of nonemergency services isn't the role of ER physicians. They are there to treat true emergency cases, whose survival may depend upon prompt attention.

In the ER you will be treated by a physician who knows nothing about your medical history and will be working under great pressure, probably limiting the attention he can give.

You also will be paying significantly, perhaps several times more, than the same treatment would cost in your doctor's office.

To choose a personal physician in a primary care field (family or general practice, internal medicine, pediatrics, obstetrics/gynecology), the California Medical Association recommends asking for names form your local county medical society. In doing so, you can limit the recommendations to physicians easily accessible from your home or work and in the specialty you desire.

If you have such preferences as physicians who have been in practice for a number of years, the county society often can provide this information. If you are covered under a public program such as Medi-Cal, mention this because not all physicians accept such patients.

As alternatives you might ask for the names of staff members at a nearby hospital. Or you might contact a pharmacist, who can often suggest local physicians who are treating your neighbors. After you have recommendations, you can check your library for the American Medical Directory, which provides information about doctors' professional training.

By selecting a physician before you get ill, when medical problems do occur you can call your doctor and ask his advice. He may give you instructions over the phone, schedule an office visit at a convenient time, recommend hospitalization under his supervision or, in some emergencies, instruct you to go immediately to the hospital emergency room. Whatever is done, you'll know that your total care is being "managed" by the person who knows your health needs best.

Talk To Cover Mystery Fish

Coal Age mystery fish are the subject of a free, illustrated talk by Dr. Frederick Schram, Curator of Fossils, at the San Diego Natural History Museum, being given at 7:30 tomorrow night in the Museum auditorium.

During the Coal Age, 350 to 250 million years ago, the evolution of shrimp and related forms was just beginning, Schram said. Few were at all like present day forms and some were unique and strange and unlike anything alive today, he said. Dr. Schram's lecture will be illustrated by color slides of fossil specimens from all over the world.

The talk is the second in a series of free, public lectures presented by members of the museum's scientific staff in their particular areas of research.

There's An Answer!

by Norman Vincent Peale and Ruth Stafford Peale

He wants everything

Q. My husband and I have been married 13 years. Of these 13 years he has been cheating on me for 12. It's always a different girl. I'm not a Miss America, but I'm good looking and have a nice shape. I'm neat and the house is always clean. I bake everything; I'm a good cook (which he said himself). He also gets all the loving and sex he wants from me. He wants a good wife and a good mother to our two children but wants everything else too.

A. There are a few men who are just plain women-chasers. And apparently you are unlucky enough to have one of this breed.

We have known such persons, like alcoholics, to be cured of their excesses through religion. But they have to get it in depth to make it work.

Perhaps if you, yourself, developed spiritual power and had friends work with you spiritually, your husband could be reached and changed. This method often works most effectively.

We are sending you our booklet, "Try Prayer Power," in the hope it will help you as it has helped others. Anyone wishing a free copy may write to us in care of Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

Heart won't hear

Q. Will you please give me some advice on love? I'm 18 years old and have a problem. You see, it's this dude that I remember from way back when he played with my brother. Well, something about him attracted me to him and I just fell in love with him. My sisters all encouraged me to call him, and so I did. But he acts as though he doesn't know who I am and he never returns any of my phone calls. I've got a feeling I was had, and I have tried to hate him. But my heart won't hear of it. Maybe you can suggest a way to get over him.

A. Probably the young man thinks of you as a kid. And you are certainly showing undesirable traits in hounding him.

As a female you are endowed by nature with the powers of femininity. But these are most effective when subtly used. And the most subtle use of all is to be absolutely normal, happy and attractive.

At 18 you are growing up and coming to the point where this fellow may notice you and like you. But you will do better not to chase him, and to go out with lots of other friends.

Feels Forsaken

Q. What is your opinion about children forsaking their mother in her old age without a cause? I don't think anyone ever appreciated and loved their children more than their daddy and me. We did everything we could to raise them right. Now I'm a widow, alone and in bad health. The children seldom visit me or offer to do one thing for me. I've spent almost all I had on them, let them have money, and only one out of the nine children has ever paid me back. I have never asked them for help. My husband used to tell me I was too good to them, and I guess he was right. I try not to get too depressed, but it is sometimes hard not to.

A. It would seem the first thing you should do is to make an objective study of yourself. By any chance are you a whining, complaining, or domineering person? These traits will drive children away from an elderly parent. Granted, they should not let it do so. But factually, it does just that.

It is also true that sometimes children are not long on gratitude. You are foolish to spend all your money on your children. The first law of love is to care for yourself. Learn to live your own life pleasantly. This may even bring some of your children back to you.

If there is something you would like to ask Dr. and Mrs. Peale to discuss in this column, write to them in care of Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564. If you would like to talk directly with a Prayer Partner, call Prayer Line (212)481-1050. Reduced long-distance rates are in effect nights and weekends.

HOME-COOKED

This Week's RECIPE

Steak and Kidney Pie

For the next several weeks this column will feature unusual ways of cooking perhaps the most-eaten meat in the United States — beef.

For more than 200 years, hearty beefsteak and kidney pies have been a traditional house specialty of famous English restaurants all over the world. If cooking with beef kidneys is a new experience for you, here's a tasty recipe to begin with.

Steak and Kidney Pie

- ½ pound beef kidney
- 1 pound beef top round steak
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 large onion, thinly sliced
- 2½ tablespoons flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 2 cups beef broth
- 1 tablespoon tomato paste
- Pastry from your favorite recipe, based on one cup flour

Trim and discard fat from kidney and steak. Cover kidney with cold water, heat to boiling, then drain and cool. Cut steak and kidney into 1-inch cubes and brown in butter. Add onion and brown lightly.

Stir in flour, salt, monsodium glutamate and pepper. Add beef broth and tomato paste. Heat to boiling, stirring until smooth. Bake in 300-degree oven 2 to 2½ hours, until beef is tender. Remove from oven, increase oven heat to 425 degrees.

Turn beef and sauce into shallow 8½-inch baking dish. Cover with pastry rolled to a 9-inch circle, pinching edges against sides of dish. Cut small hole in surface to allow steam to escape. Return pie to oven and bake 15 minutes or until pastry browns. Makes 5 to 6 servings.

The comedy hit "Last of the Red Hot Lovers" opened last night at Spring Valley's Fiesta Dinner Theatre, 9665 Campo Rd.

"Last of The Red Hot Lovers" runs through December 10. The dinner and live Broadway hit combination is served nightly with dinner at 7 p.m., performance at 8:30, except Mondays, with matinees on Wednesday and Sunday. BANK OF AMERICA
Introduces The Interest/Checking Plan.

Starting November 1st, we're offering Californians a unique kind of checking plan: Our Interest/Checking Plan.

What's new about it? Several things. The Interest/Checking Plan is a checking account with a special savings account attached so that the money you would normally use for writing checks will earn a full 5% interest, compounded daily.

When you write a check, the amount of the check is automatically transferred from the special savings account back to the checking account. Depending on the size of the balance you keep, the interest on your special savings account can cover your Interest/Checking Plan service charges and provide extra income, too.

To open an Interest/Checking Plan, you need a $500 minimum deposit at Bank of America. After that, no minimum balance is required. There's a $3.00 monthly service charge, plus a 10 cent charge for each check paid. Incidentally, both these service charges are waived if a $2,000 minimum balance is maintained.

Now, if this plan isn't right for you, Bank of America offers a variety of other checking plans for you to choose from. So come to Bank of America and let's talk checking.

Bengals (1-8) Here For 1 P.M. Game Sunday

Homer Rice, who replaced Bill Johnson as the Bengals' head coach will celebrate his first month's anniversary plus 3 days in his new job. Cincinnati is now 1-8 having won its first game Sunday with Houston the hapless victim.

The Chargers, riding the crest of a 27-13 victory over the enemy, Oakland, now stands 3-6. It was the first victory over Oakland in a decade. A 7-7 broke the monotony in 1972.

Sunday's Highlights:

— Hank Bauer ran 11 yards for the game's first score, ending a Chargers drought of 4 years, 4 minutes and 38 seconds in the Oakland Coliseum. They had been shut out 25-0 in 1975, 24-0 in 1976, and 24-0 in 1977. The Chargers had not scored in a regular-season game in the Oakland Coliseum since a 17-10 defeat in 1974.

— The team overcame a 20-7 Raiders lead at halftime, the first time they have surmounted a two-touchdown deficit in the second half since they trailed Cleveland 21-7 after two quarters in 1974 and rallied for a 36-35 victory.

— Lydell Mitchell's 92 yards rushing was the most by a Chargers running back since Rickey Young gained 111 yards against the New York Jets December, 1975—a span of 38 games. Mitchell's 24 carries were the most since Young carried 25 times against Kansas City December 7, 1975.

— The Chargers have had few scoring advances to match their touchdown drive at the start of the third quarter—80 yards, 20 plays, 11:09 of playing time. This reduced Oakland's advantage to 20-14 and set in motion one of the most exciting quarters in Chargers history.

Mitchell has ruched for 5,910 yards in his career and moved into the "high rent" district. At Oakland he moved ahead of Bill Brown (5,838), Steve Van Buren (5,860), and Larry Brown (5,875) into 12th place among all-time NFL rushers. Mitchell needs 90 yards against Cincinnati to become 12th player to gain 6,000 yards.

The next home game is November 12, 1 p.m. with the Kansas City Chiefs.

Rams To Meet Aztecs In 1st SD WAC Game

The WAC (Western Athletic Conference) finally comes to San Diego.

The first ever WAC game in San Diego will be Saturday at 7:30 in the Big Stadium with the Aztecs hosting the Colorado State Rams.

Although both the Rams and the Aztecs have suffered through a disappointing season so far, they were rated as 2 of the best 3 teams in WAC. The Rams are 2-5 on the year and 1-3 WAC. Aztecs are 2-4 and 0-3 WAC. The 3rd "best" team is B.Y.U.

Colorado will be no Aztec pushover. They've got running back Larry Jones who averages nearly 100 yards a game, and Alvin Lewis averaging more than 5 yards a carry.

Other prime adversaries will be the Rams' 3 Bells: Mike, Mark E., and Mark R. Mike, of course, is the mammoth defensive tackle who is considered a candidate for the Outland Trophy, the nation's top award to a lineman. He leads the team with 66 tackles, of which 16 have been for losses.

His twin, Mark E., is a tight end who leads the squad with 20 receptions, while Mark R. (also known predictably as "Tinker") is the WAC pacesetter with a 22.5 yard average per catch from his wide receiver spot.

Defense has been the sore spot of both teams this year, as both allow over 24 points a game.

The game will be broadcast on Radio KFMB 76.

Wilson and Zurheide Meet In Light-Heavy Fight Friday

Two of the best boxing masters in the light-heavyweight division will face each other Friday night at the San Diego Coliseum.

El Cajon's Ronnie Wilson (81-22-4) squares off at 8:15 with Karl Zurheide (49-22-5) of Milwaukee.

Wilson has fought in Germany, England, Madison Square Garden and in Philadelphia. He's fought No. 1 rated Andy Heilman, 3-rated Rafael Guttierrez, and State champion Ralph McCoy.

His most recent victim was highly rated Lenie Provo, a U.S. Marine, who suffered his first professional loss.

Zurheide has won 15 of his 49 victories by KO's. He was graduated from the U. of Wisconsin in the Criminal Justice Department.

Zurheide has fought in Europe, Argentina, Australia and South Africa and is currently light-heavy champion.

In an 8-round semi-main Friday, Elliott Bryant, a San Diego heavyweight, meets John Baca of Los Angeles.

In 2 amateur bouts, Ernest Gizoni of Spring Valley and Scott Baker of Poway will square off with amateurs out of Los Angeles.

Padres-Rangers 5-Man Deal Resolves First Base Problem

The Padres and Texas Rangers have formalized a five player trade that will send outfielder Oscar Gamble and catcher Dave Roberts to Texas in exchange for first baseman Mike Hargrove, infielder Kurt Bevacqua and catcher Bill Fahey.

The Rangers will also receive money — said to be in the neighborhood of $300,000.

The Padres had signed Gamble in the re-entry draft last season after he hit 31 homers for the Chicago White Sox in 1977. In 1978 Gamble hit .275 with seven homers and 47 rbi in 126 games for San Diego. Roberts saw limited duty in 1978 batting .215 in 54 games with one home run and 7 rbi.

Hargrove is the key man in the deal for San Diego.

The 29-year-old left-handed batting first baseman had an off year in 1978 batting .251 with seven homers and 40 rbi. However, he did walk a career high 107 times.

Going into the 1978 season Hargrove carried a .303 lifetime average in four major league seasons with the Rangers, three times batting over .300. His high-water mark was .323 in 1974 when he was voted American League Rookie-of-the-Year.

In 1976 Hargrove led the American League in walks with 97 while his career highs in homers and rbi came in 1977 with 18 and 69. Hargrove played for the American League in the 1975 All-Star Game.

Of Hargrove, Padres General Manager Bob Fontaine said "We are looking for an established first baseman with proven offensive abilities who could add to our run production. He's a line drive hitter with some power whose batting style should fit well in our park."

Bevacqua has played every infield and outfield position in his 12 professional seasons. He is a 31-year-old righthanded batter who averaged .221 with six homers and 30 rbi in 1978. Fontaine said "Bevacqua plays both third and second and is proven off the bench."

Fahey is a left-handed batting catcher noted primarily for his defensive abilities. He's 28 years old and has seen major league action in six different seasons. He spent the entire 1978 campaign at Tucson in the Pacific Coast League where he hit two homers and 19 rbi in 66 games.

TAKE FIVE

by John E. Wirges

Looking back on it, you know the San Diego Chargers were looking too far ahead. And now, with the sweet taste of hard earned victory over their most ardent enemy still fresh on their lips, one hopes they have learned to look just far enough ahead to win one game at a time.

Two weeks ago Don Coryell took the Chargers to Detroit, but Oakland was where their thoughts were. They paid the price. San Diego's favorite professional football team played horrid offense and worse defense.

The Lions ate them alive. Detroit, winners but once, going in, came alive and trimmed the Chargers 31-14, then out-danced the Chicago Bears 21-17 Sunday to join the race in the "Black and Blue" NFC Central Division.

Don Coryell's crew came home lower than dirt, sportin' a 2-6 mark and their hopes for a playoff berth shattered beyond repair.

And they still had to face Oakland. It seems that when it rains, there is always somebody ready to open the dike and let the floods in.

But wait a minute. What's this? Coryell's rantin' and ravin' and yellin' like it was just the beginning? You bet your sweet bippy.

Coryell has one way vision. He can only look in one direction. Ahead. Up front. Next, please.

And he refocused his stalwart's attention to the job at hand. When the Chargers went to Oakland last Saturday, they were thinking OAKLAND. And they whipped them. Whipped them good enough to outpoint them if they tie for a playoff berth.

Other things being equal, their four points edge last Sunday outranks the one point edge the Raiders took with their immaculate deception earlier this campaign.

But, sweet as it is, the last lick of satisfaction must be wiped from the lips and this week's tango with Cincinnati stamped hard on the thoughts of Charger troops.

There is no reason owner Gene Klein and his fellow Charger fans around and about shouldn't share happiness with a 10-6 season, if the working crew will put their game pants on one leg at a time.

This Sunday, it's Cincinnati. No more. Nothing down the road. Let the fans take that trip. While fans don't win, also, they don't lose. Only the players do either, no matter who takes the credit or blame.

Football is really a simple matter. It's like the stock market. If you buy low and sell high, you'll make money. In football it's score first, last and often and keep the other team from your goal line.

It takes skill and dedication. And a proper approach to the game at hand. Now is the time to remember that the Oakland was last week. There's a whole 'nu'ther bunch of critters coming out of the chute this Sunday.

And not all of 'em are strangers. One is comin' home for his first show as a pro after settin' the college world here 'bouts on its ear running for Aztec State. Fellow named "Deacon" Turner. Remember him? He collected 84 yards against Houston last week.

And Ken Anderson is back healthy and all. Ken and "Deacon" and company took the Bengals to the win column last week against Houston. And Cincinnati is climbing a tougher hill than the Chargers. Last week they recorded their first win. And what do you think the pre-season odds were on that?

We could have one helluva football game in San Diego Stadium Sunday afternoon. It's a clash between two playoff contenders that never got out of the gate. And they both have something to prove.

And judging from where they've been and how they got to where they stand, neither one has any damn reason to look past the other.

Sockers Coach in Europe For Team-Aiding Players

The San Diego Sockers are preparing for the defense of their North American Soccer League Western Division title in the form of coach Hubert Vogelsinger's upcoming scouting-recruiting trip to Europe and Mexico.

Vogelsinger's 3-week trip will include 7 European countries: Scotland, England, Germany, Holland, Belgium, Austria, and Switzerland and he will wind up with a stop in Mexico.

"Trips life this are a part of every coach's life, and the length of the trip depends on his success the previous season," Vogelsinger said. "We had a good year, so I have only a few spots to fill, such as at central defender and in midfield. I'll make my first stop in Scotland to talk with our center-forward Walker McCall, who was a loan player last season."

While in England, Vogelsinger will visit with Ron Greenwood, the coach of England's National Team, and travel to Brighton, the Second Division club that is planning a tour of the United State in May.

On the continent, Vogelsinger will meet with Sockers captain Jan Van Der Veen in Holland. An arrangement has been reached with Van Der Veen's Dutch team, Go Ahead Eagles, to borrow some players for the '79 NASL season. Dusseldorf and Essen are the two clubs Vogelsinger will visit in Germany, as well as conferring with Sockers players Jean Willrich, Pete Nover, and Pete Lechermann.

2-Day NASCAR Event Set for South Bay

Richard White, the Escondido stock car ace who is currently running fourth in the Grand National West standings, was among the latest entries of a star-studded field for the 2-day NASCAR open competition stock car program at South Bay Park's Speedway 117, Saturday night and Sunday afternoon.

Following practice, a six-car, six-lap trophy dash will open the show the next day at 2 p.m. which will be concluded with a 24-car, 100-lap NASCAR-sanctioned race on the half-mile dirt oval.

Coryell Chairs Bowl for Breath

Coach Don Coryell of the San Diego Chargers has been named honorary chairman of "Bowl for Breath for C/F" November 24. a four-county bowl-a-thon to benefit the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

Funds will be used in the search for a means of controlling C/F, an inherited lung-damaging disease which is the leading genetic killer of children.

"I'm very honored to be involved with such a worthwhile project," said Coryell. "I have visited with children who have this disease. I know how very important it is to find an answer so they can lead the same full life other children do."

Anyone big enough to bowl may enter the one-day event, which will be held at 30 bowling centers in the four-county area—San Diego, San Bernardino, Imperial and Riverside. In Lemon Grove, the Bowlero is participating.

Contestants may obtain sponsor forms at ony of those bowling lanes or at the C/F Office, 3954 Fourth ave., San Diego.

Clippers Face Knicks At Arena Tonight, 7:05

The New York Knicks will be facing the "World" and a 3-game San Diego home court winning streak when they meet the Clippers tonight at 7:05 at the Sports Arena.

The Clippers have dispatched Los Angeles, Milwaukee and Seattle in order since last losing at the Sports Arena to San Antonio on October 18. The Sonics were the latest victims, the Clippers knocking Seattle from the ranks of the undefeated with a 103-100 triumph Sunday.

Lloyd Free, who is convincing more and more Clipper fans that he is truly "All-World," is the NBA's fifth leading scorer, with a 26.6 per game scoring average, and he'll be a primary Clippers weapon against the Knicks.

New York lists Spencer Haywood among the top NBA scorers with a 23.4 per game average, good for 16th in the league scoring derby. In addition to Haywood, the Knicks also boast Bob McAdoo and Marvin Webster up front. Webster is 8th in the league in rebounding with an 11.7 average.

After the New York contest, Coach Gene Shue sends the Clippers into action against the Trail Blazers in Portland on Friday before returning home Saturday to test the Cleveland Cavaliers at 7:05 p.m.

Several special promotions are planned for the New York and Cleveland games. The New York game will be Windmill Farms Night with surprises for fans attending that contest.

The Cleveland game will be Navy Night, with the United States Navy band and drill team to perform prior to the game and at halftime. After the game, fans will be able to dance and win prizes at Mad Jack's/Cerwin Vega Disco Night.

Tickets for the New York and Cleveland games and all future Clippers home games are available at Bill Gamble's, all arena ticket agencies, and the Sports Arena Box Office. For the number of your nearest ticket outlet call 224-4176.

Tickets are priced at $9, $8, $6 and $4. Youngsters, 14 years of age and under and accompanied by an adult, are admitted at a $1.50 reduction in the $6 and $4 sections at all games.

Twin Bill Offers Racing and Boxing

Hollywood Park will preview Olympic boxing team hopefuls when it hosts Golden Gloves competition Saturday night as part of a unique boxing/racing doubleheader.

World champion Danny "Little Red" Lopez, who recently defended his featherweight crown, will be the guest referee for the event held before the races.

6 bouts and 10 harness races will be offered for the regular $2.25 admission price. The first bout is scheduled for 6 p.m. while first post will be the usual 7:30 p.m. Gates to the track will open at 5 p.m.

Two top Olympic prospects who will be in action Saturday night are undefeated Golden Glover Douglas Garcia and 17-year-old Diamond Belt champion Louie Loy.

Also on tap this weekend is the $20,000 added Bret Hanover Stakes Friday night. Can Can Rhythm, who already owns six victories at the Inglewood oval this fall, will be the one to beat in that mile and one-sixteenth contest.

SD Gets Bigelow; Clips Trade Lloyd

Bob Bigelow became a San Diego Clipper and Scott Lloyd became a Chicago Bull Thursday in a pair of related roster moves executed by the San Diego club.

The Clippers traded Lloyd, a 6-10 center-forward who had logged 30 minutes of action in 5 games with San Diego this season, to Chicago for a future draft choice.

Clippers vice president of operations Irv Kaze then announced the signing of Bigelow, a 6-7 forward who played collegiately at the U. of Pennsylvania, to a multi-year contract.

Bigelow was a first-round draft selection of the Kansas City Kings in 1975 and averaged 1.8 points per game in 31 contests during his rookie season. He appeared in 29 games in 1976-77 and carried a 2.9 scoring mark.

This past season, Bigelow saw action in 5 league games, playing one game at Kansas City and 4 at Boston, and averaged 1.6 points a game.

Willie O'Ree Back in Play; Joins Hawks

Much of the San Diego Gulls of the Pacific Coast League Hockey League returns to the ice this year in the person of Willie O'Ree, 43, who signed a S.D. Hawks contract last week.

Willie is the same kind of personage on ice that the other Willie — McCovey — is in baseball. Never mind that over-the-hill jazz. Both produce. Each pleases their respective fans.

The Gullnicks of PCL play adopted O'Ree with the admiration no other hockey player has been able to generate here. Fans cared little that Willie tripped over his own feet or swan-dived into opponents' net, leaving the puck behind.

He was sheer excitement and the fans loved him. He said Tuesday that he had kept in shape; had skated regularly and was capable right now of playing a full game.

O'Ree's return to the ice in his familiar No. 20 jersey will bring about a reappearance of San Diego's Gullnicks and his presence will bring more suspense to the Hawks' play.

The suspense? Will the puck get there before Willie? The first league game on home ice will be Wednesday, November 15 against the Spokane Flyers.

Brown Headlines Election Night Wrestling Card

Election Night wrestling at the San Diego Coliseum brings about a match featuring Bad, Bad LeRoy Brown (no relation to the governor) and Chavo Guererro. Guererro returns after being sidelined by injury for the past 2 months.

A confused referee caused purses to be held up in the American Tag Team Title bout earlier this week so the match will have to be replayed Tuesday.

In that bout between the Twin Devils pitted against Black Gordman and Pedro Morales, the referee, and many of the fans, couldn't tell on Devil from the other. In his confusion he raised the arm of one Devil and Pedro Morales, an opponent. An American Wrestling Assn. official called it no contest and it will be replayed Tuesday.

In a loser-leave-town karate match, the Continental Lover meets GO. Another bout, yet to be chosen, will round out the bill.

Grappling starts at 7:30. The Coliseum is at 15th and E sts. downtown.

SDU Strikers Lead in Soccer

Atlas United lost a 1-0 soccer game to drop out of a tie with SDU Strikers in last week's Atlas-United Soccer Club play at Lemon Grove Park.

In Division 2 AA, the standings: Strikers 5-0; Atlas 4-1; Blue 3-0; Black 3-1; Cosmos 2-3; Gold 2-4; Coronado 0-5; Black Sheep 0-5.

Division 5 A: Cosmos 2-0; Cobras 2-0; Sockers 2-1; Tritons 1-2; Roadrunners 0-4.

Division 6 AA: Panthers 3-0; Bobcats 2-0; Truckers 2-1; Tigers 2-2; Broncos 1-3; Rowdies 0-4.

Division 6 A: Strikers 2-1; Mustangs 1-1; Pintos 0-1.

It's Andy Williams Time Again

AWSDO Raises Purse To Record $260,000

With an advantageous position on the 1979 tour calendar and a whopping $50,000 increase in the purse to $260,000, the 12th annual Andy Williams San Diego Open golf tournament will be held January 24-28 at Torrey Pines golf course.

The AWSDO, beginning with a $10,000 Celebrity Pro-Am on January 24 followed by the $250,000 Open, is the third event of the year, right after the Phoenix Open and preceding the Bing Crosby National Pro-Am.

"These early dates and our big prize money should attract one of the finest fields in our history," said Hal Tebbetts, who will serve as general chaiman for the seventh year.

Norrie West, executive director for the 10th consecutive year, added, "After a two-month rest most pros will probably play at least three or four events before taking a week off. And San Diego is right on the route between Phoenix and Monterey."

Jay Haas, who scored his first tour win here last January, is expected back to defend his title.

Tom Watson, AWSDO champ in 1977 and leading money winner on the PGA Tour the last two years, will be a favorite if he enters.

Others from golf's hierarchy officials hope to have here include Gil Morgan, Andy Bean, Hubert Green, Hale Irwin, Bill Kratzert, Jerry Pate, Andy North, Bruce Lietzke, Ben Crenshaw, Ray Floyd, Lee Elder and Tom Kite.

San Diego's own contingent, highly successful on the tour in 1978, should be headed by Lon Hinkle, Gene Littler, Jack Renner, John Schroeder, Craig Stadler and Vic Regalado.

Among other ex AWSDO champions who may be back are Tom Weiskopf, J. C. Snead, Bobby Nichols, Bob Dickson and Pete Brown.

The Celebrity Pro-Am, held on both North and South Torrey Pines as are the first two days of the Open, should again attract some 40 or more famous names from the world of show biz and sport. Among those competing last year, for instance, were Bob Hope, Lawrence Welk, Buck Owens, Flip Wilson, Willie Mays, Joe Morgan, Efrem Zimbalist, Glen Campbell, Randy Jones, Rollie Fingers, Don Knotts and, of course, Andy Williams.

Tebbetts reports greatly increased interest in the Pro-Am on the part of amateur players from all over the nation. "Applications to enter are way ahead of any previous year," he said.

The AWSDO succeeded the former San Diego Open in 1968, upping the total Open and Pro-Am purse from $71,000 to $165,000. It subequently went to $170,000 in 1971, $180,000 in 1975, $190,000 in 1976 and $210,000 in 1978 before the present jump to $260,000.

S.D. Sockers 1978 Recruiting Starts

The San Diego Sockers have begun active preparation for the defense of their North American Soccer League Western Division title in the form of coach Hubert Vogelsinger's upcoming scouting/recruiting trip to Europe and Mexico.

Vogelsinger's 3-week trip will include 7 European countries: Scotland, England, Germany, Holland, Belgium, and Switzerland; and he will wind up with a stop in Mexico.

Said Vogelsinger, "Trips like these are a part of every coach's life, and the length of the trip depends on his success the previous season. We had a good year, so I have only a few spots to fill, such as at central defender and in midfield. I'll make my first stop in Scotland to talk with our center-forward Walker McCall, who was a loan player last season."

While in England, Vogelsinger will visit with Ron Greenwood, the coach of England's National Team, and travel to Brighton, the Second Division club that is planning a tour of the United States in May.

On the continent, Vogelsinger will meet with Sockers captain Jan Van Der Veen in Holland. An arrangement has been reached with Van Der Veen's Dutch team, Go Ahead Eagles, to borrow some players for the '79 NASL season. Dusseldorf and Essen are the two clubs Vogelsinger will visit in Germany, as well as conferring with Sockers players Jean Willrich, Pete Nover, and Pete Lechermann.

Seeks 7th Win

Can Can Rhythm, who has been unbeatable at a mile over the Hollywood Park oval, will be looking for his 7th win of the 1978 Western Harness meeting when he battles some of the top pacers in the West Friday night in the $20,000 Bret Hanover Stakes at the Inglewood track.

The four-year-old son of Dancer Hanover currently owns a 4-race win streak and has 6 victories in seven starts at Hollypark this year, all at a mile distance.

His only defeat came in the mile and one-sixteenth Gold Medal Stakes when he finished a neck back of Arrochar Replica.

"He's getting better each time he starts," said trainer Dave Wilson, who gave his charge a two-week rest after his last victory. "I really don't think he's reached his potential, yet," Wilson added.

Perry Wins Cy Young 22-2

San Diego Padre Righthander Gaylord Perry received 22 of 24 first place votes to easily win the 1978 National League Cy Young Award as the loop's top pitcher.

Perry was 2nd on the other two ballots — those votes going for Vida Blue of San Francisco and J.R. Richard of Houston. In all, Perry received 116-votes to 38 for the Dodgers' Burt Hooton, 17 for Blue and 13 for Richard.

Perry is the oldest pitcher to win the Cy Young Award (40 on September-15) and the first to win it in both leagues. Perry won the American League Cy Young Award in 1972. Perry is also the second Padre pitcher in 3-years to capture the honor — Randy Jones having won the award in 1976.

Padre Manager Roger Craig was naturally delighted with the news. Roger said "Of all the years I've been in baseball I can't think of any pitchers who were more consistent than Perry. I would compare him to Newcombe, Drysdale, Koufax and Gibson in terms of consistency. His influence as a competitor rubbed off on our club and was one of the reasons we finished as well as we did."

Perry closed the season with 6-consecutive wins and victories in 9 of his last 10-decisions. His 267-lifetime wins are the most for any currently active pitcher and the last day of the season he became he became only the third pitcher in baseball history to achieve 3,000-strikeouts. The other two are Walter Johnson (3,508) and Bob Gibson (3,117). Perry finished the year with 3,001-strikeouts.

LANDMARK
COMBINATION SAVING→CHECKING ACCOUNT

What is a Landmark Account?

It's a new, convenient way to make your money work harder for you. Money kept in a regular checking account earns no interest at all. But with a Landmark Account, your money earns interest right up to the minute it's needed to cover your checks.

How does a Landmark Account work?

Each time one of your checks reaches our bank, we will transfer just enough money from your savings account into your checking account to cover it. In this way, you can maintain a zero balance in your checking account, and keep a maximum balance earning interest.

How does a Landmark Account differ from a Telephone Transfer Account at a Savings & Loan?

With telephone transfer, you must call your savings and loan each time you want to make a transfer. As a result, your money reaches the bank before your check does and no longer earns interest for you.

But with a Landmark Account, your money is transferred only when your check reaches our bank. Only your bank knows the precise moment when money is needed to cover the checks written, and with Landmark it's done automatically without so much as a telephone call.

What about Service Charges?

There are no service charges if you keep a minimum balance of $1,500 in your Landmark Account. Should your balance drop below $1,500 during the month, there will be a modest service charge of $2.00, plus a charge of 15¢ per check.

How much interest will I earn on a Landmark Account?

A Landmark Account pays 5% compounded daily, which gives an annual yield of 5.13%. You may actually earn more money with a Landmark combined savings/checking account than if you placed your savings in a higher interest account and maintained a separate checking account as the example in the table below shows.

You should open a Landmark Account if:

1) You want to earn interest on all your money, all the time.
2) You want to avoid the problem of keeping track of two or more accounts at different places.
3) You want to avoid making telephone calls to transfer your funds.
4) You want the convenience of banking 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, through the most complete county-wide automatic teller machines available — our "7/24" system.

An open invitation to you:

Call or come in to any of our branch offices and give us the opportunity to explain the advantages and options of this brand new way to bank.

Add Interest to Your Life.

Assume you now have a $3,000 savings account and a checking account which has an average balance of $900. WITH THE NEW LANDMARK ACCOUNT YOU COULD BE EARNING INTEREST ON THE WHOLE $3,900.

Job Placements Drop in September

California's State Employment offices in San Diego County made a total of 3,447 job placements in September, it was reported by the Employment Development Department (EDD).

This was almost 32 per cent under the August placement total of 5,053, and was 8 per cent lower than the number placed in September 1977, which was 3,747.

For the entire fiscal year (end of September), EDD has made 39,542 placements, compared with 36,695 in the same 12-month period of 1976-77. This is an increase of almost 8 per cent.

The corresponding figure for October through September 1975-76 was 28,638. This is an increase of 38.1 per cent for the two-year period.

From Polish Royal Line

Francis Sledzinski Turns 80

Francis J. Sledzinski, longtime Lemon Grove resident and descendant of Polish royalty, celebrates his 80th birthday today at his San Diego home just north of the former site of Polonia Acres, his family's estate once renowned throughout the county.

The two-acre site at the corner of Broadway and College Avenue in far western Lemon Grove, now occupied by a Denny's restaurant and Gibraltar Savings, until 1965 was the Sledzinski home.

It was extensively landscaped with flowers and trees —landscaping remains one of Sledzinski's hobbies — and hosted a flagpole flying the American and pre-Communist Polish flags, as well as the grave of Sledzinski's mother, the former Princess Filomena Wojciechowski, or Pajak, one of a royal Polish line dating back to the 14th century.

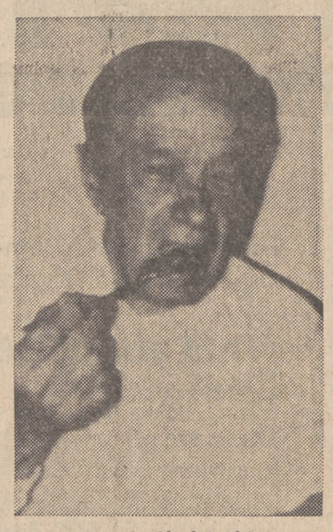
The princess, married in 1893 to Sledzinski's father John after fleeing Poland in the wake of a Russian invasion, lived on the Polonia Acres estate, originally six acres, from 1921 until her death in 1941.

She had asked to be buried on the estate. John Sledzinski died in 1948 and was buried at Greenwood Memorial Park in San Diego, where Princess Filomena's body was moved in 1965 after Francis Sledzinski and his brother Thaddeus sold the family property.

Most of Polonia Acres, where the Sledzinski brothers moved in the late 1930s to be near their parents, was taken over by the State of California in 1953 for the construction of Highway 94, but the piece that remained, bearing the princess' grave and proudly flying the flag of pre-Communist Poland, was a county landmark for many years thereafter.

For Francis Sledzinski, now of 3612 Nassau Dr. in San Diego, near College Grove Shopping Center, this story and the accompanying pictures are a birthday surprise instigated by his niece, Filomena Tafoya of San Diego, who is named after the Princess Filomena. The pictures are from family scrapbooks.

Sledzinski has never married, Mrs. Tafoya said, "which he claims jokingly is why he has lived to be 80 years old."



Francis Sledzinski

He was born Nov. 2, 1898 in Yonkers, N.Y., before the family moved to San Diego in 1921. As a younger man, Mrs. Tafoya said, he traveled extensively in his position as chief petty officer aboard the S.S. Acropolis.

Later, both he and his brother Thaddeus worked in the food service division at the U.S. Naval Hospital in Balboa Park, from which he retired in 1965 after 25 years' service.

At one time in the 1950s, according to a 1955 story in the Lemon Grove Review by Editor-Publisher Max Goodwin, the family was seeking to establish its legal claim to $25 million worth of royal gems and jewelry, gold and silver, dating to the 17th century, that was smuggled out of Poland before the Communists took over after World War II.

Princess Filomena's mother, who died in 1921 in New York, had chosen to live as a commoner in America rather than risk her life in quest of her fortune by returning to Poland, the brothers told this newspaper in 1955.

The claim has never been established, Mrs. Tafoya said this week, "because of the incredible amount of paperwork that would have been required." The fabulous treasure trove remains in a Canadian museum, held by the Canadian government.

Sledzinski currently attends St. Philips Episcopal Church in Lemon Grove. His brother Thaddeus and a sister, Caroline F. Derbonne, live in San Diego.

G'Mont Pharmacy Open 24 Hours

"Although the change went into effect September 1, so that the pharmacy could provide more services to in-hospital patients, the general public may also come in to have prescriptions filled," Dahlgren said.

He added that this is the only pharmacy in east San Diego city and county open 24 hours.

Persons seeking service after midnight must enter through the emergency room entrance as the main entrance will be closed at that hour.

Grossmont Hospital pharmacy is presently being expanded to provide greater service to the community and patients. Remodeling is expected to be completed about February.

Supports Prop. G

Editor:

I would like to direct your attention to County Proposition G.

While Proposition 13 put a limit on property tax revenues, it did not limit total government spending. Proposition G, if passed by the voters, will ensure the success of my efforts to stop County budget expansion by imposition of exorbitant fees, or expanded state or federal subsidies to replace lost property tax revenues.

Proposition G will limit County spending and establish a limit on the number of County employees based on the population of the County —a limitation which will reduce the County work force from about 12,000 to 11,100.

As a further protection, Proposition G will require approval from 4 of 5 members of the Board of Supervisors for any new program considered after the regular budget session.

Proposition G reflects my commitment and that of the County Board of Supervisors to fight inflation through lowered government spending and reduced tax bills. A "yes" vote on Proposition G on November 7 will guarantee it.

Very truly yours,
ROGER HEDGECOCK
Supervisor,
Third District

Area Obituary

Eugene Leroy Eminger

Services were held Wednesday for Eugene Leroy Eminger, 64, of Pacific ave., Lemon Grove who died Sunday at his residence.

A native of New Mexico, Eminger came to the county 38 years ago and was a butcher at the old Ranchers Market at the corner of Broadway and Massachusetts in Lemon Grove. He retired in 1975 after 30 years in his trade.

He is survived by his wife Maxine, 2 daughters; a sister and 4 grandchildren.

HERE'S THE PREZ — Tom Stein, owner-operator of Dutch Cleaners, 7870 Broadway, Lemon Grove, and obviously a man who wields a mean iron, has been elected president of the San Diego County Dry Cleaners Association. Stein, a four-and-a-half-year member of the association, said the group promotes "the idea of good dry cleaning and fair treatment in the industry." It also carries an on-going program of education for its members. Stein's term is for one year. The association meets monthly and has a full-time staff at its headquarters at 3913 Ohio St. in San Diego.

Want To Get Bit By A Spider? Find One That's Not Hungry

Most of the creatures that go creep in the night—around Halloween or any other time —can't really hurt you. That includes most of the spiders spinning webs across some ghostly threshold or the nooks and crannies of your own home.

Even the fierce-looking North American tarantula has a bite that's not worse than a bee sting and isn't poisonous, according to the Regional Poison Center at UCSD Medical Center.

But the San Diego region does have two species of spiders that can hurt: the black widow and one known variously as the fiddleback, violin spider and brown recluse. Although their bites vary in intensity and danger, in cases of doubt or prolonged symptoms it's best to get to a doctor or hospital emergency room, said Dr. Bruce Cromer, pharmacy resident at UCSD Medical Center. Both spiders are in this area year around.

The black widow is larger but the bite of the fiddleback may also have serious—even fatal—effects. A long-legged brown spider about a half-inch long, with markings on its back that resemble a violin, its relatively painless bite is easily recognizable even when you haven't seen the spider itself.

The bitten area becomes red and warm, a blister forms surrounded by a white area, and another red ring which is tender to the touch forms around that—giving the whole thing the appearance of a bulls-eye. When the blister opens, a black scab forms, which sloughs off to leave a wound that heals slowly and painfully and may spread out

Most of the time, not enough venom will be disgorged to require special treatment but if a blister forms within the first day after the bite or the area bitten becomes extremely painful, or if the victim feels ill or faint, Dr. Cromer advises calling your doctor or going to the emergency room at the hospital at once.

The black widow spider is about an inch and a half long and is marked on the underbelly with a red or orange hourglass. Its bite will usually subside after causing some pain and muscle cramping. Severe bites, however, produce muscle cramping and pain that spreads, rigidity of the abdominal muscles, and a state of mental confusion and jitteriness.

Victims whose pain is severe or continues to worsen or spreads, as well as children under 16, and persons over 60 who have hypertension, should immediately consult their doctor, check in at an emergency room or call the Poison Center at 284-6000, Dr Cromer advises. An anti-venom is available for severe cases of black widow bite.

A consoling thought as you study your next spider web: in general, spiders are shy and will run away from people rather than bite unless surprised by a hand reaching into a box or under a rock. If you touch one, try to make sure it's already had dinner. The amount of venom it will disgorge is directly tied to whether you're the dessert or the appetizer for its meal.

Working World Topic Of College Seminars

Stonehenge Topic Of Feature Film

"The Mystery of Stonehenge," a feature-length documentary on the mysterious prehistoric stone monument on England's Salisbury Plain, is scheduled at the Natural History Museum this weekend, November 4 and 5.

The 59-minute black and white film, produced in England in 1965, documents the theories on origins and uses of the circular series of stone monoliths considered by some to be an observatory and by others to have functioned as a computer.

Showings are scheduled at 1:30 and 3 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday in the museum auditorium. Children are admitted free. Adult admission is included in the $1 general museum entrance fee.

Outdoors & Travel

By E. L. "Buck" Rogers

One reason so many neophyte travelers flock together in groups or coveys is because they just don't know what to expect in a foreign country.

Most of you travel to do things, not just gape at old churches and historic monuments, this mode of travel won't work. If you wander off the beaten path, as I do, you have to do things on your own.

Individual travel is very feasible if you know what you're doing and exercise common sense. That's what this column is all about.

The first piece of advice is: don't lose your passport. This document is your identification in a foreign country. It is stamped and dated when you enter and leave.

Since passports are usually only required when entering and exiting a country, I don't carry mine during the interim period. It stays locked in a briefcase or piece of luggage in my room where it's safer than in a pocket.

Some countries also require a tourist card for identification. Such documents, obtained from an airline like Braniff International, are simple questionnaires to be filled out prior to arrival at your destination. When you go through customs both of these forms are stamped. One is retained by the official, and the other returned to you. Make sure you keep it because you will need it again.

Some nations' regulations require you to present it upon departures or you don't leave. Some countries allow discounts if you carry it during your stay. In certain instances restaurant taxes may be waived when a tourist card is presented.

Most countries have restriction on the amount of liquor or cigarettes you can import, and the U.S. has strict regulations not only on bringing back liquor but also on agriculture products. Handguns are usually more trouble than they're worth. Sporting rifles and shotguns can be taken along, but need a prior permit.

Tourists get ripped off usually as a result of carrying too much cash and not taking proper care of it. For example, a Columbian friend of mine recently visited Florida with his family. While in Miami he hid $5000 in cash beneath the mattress in his hotel room. Apparently a hotel employee, wise in such matters, relieved him of his money and the U.S. vacation was curtailed.

Don't carry excessive amounts of cash, either here or abroad. Don't publicly flash about what you do have. Carry the standard credit cards—American Express, Diners, and Visa. Take a checkbook, and convert cash into traveler's checks before leaving home.

Problems with pickpockets can be prevented by avoiding crowds and keeping alert in such situations. In such cases, I literally keep a hand on my billfold until I can get away from the press of people.

Most of the things I've mentioned are just commonsense procedures. If you'll observe these simple precautions, traveling on your own can be a challenging and trouble-free experience.

Health, Resource Guide Published

San Diego County's first comprehensive HEALTH & RESOURCE GUIDE is now available, publisher Patricia Doering announced today. The GUIDE, first of its kind here, provides information on health services for the entire County, in a 225-page 5x8 booklet.

Produced by a private firm, Community Resource Group, publication of the GUIDE culminates more than a year of research and accumulation of data.

According to Doering, there is presently no other guide like it in the County which is due, she says, to both graphics and content. "Over 300 different services are listed," she said. "And we've been very careful to provide a unique index system alphabetically, functionally and geographically." Coverage includes editorial material on How to Select a Hospital, What To Do About Depression, An Interview With Margaret Mead, Alcoholism, Drug Abuse: A Continuing Problem and An Aging Viewpoint.

Both private and public agencies providing services are listed under such headings as Advocacy, Home Health, Probation, Speech/Hearing, Women's Services, Children/Youth Services, Clinics, Community, Health, Professional Groups, Developmentally Disabled, Mental Health, Social Agencies and Ambulance and Hospital Services.

Each section is indexed by number, for easy readability.

Job Placements Drop in September

California's State Employment offices in San Diego County made a total of 3,447 job placements in September, it was reported by the Employment Development Department (EDD).

This was almost 32 per cent under the August placement total of 5,053, and was 8 per cent lower than the number placed in September 1977, which was 3,747.

For the entire fiscal year (end of September), EDD has made 39,542 placements, compared with 36,695 in the same 12-month period of 1976-77. This is an increase of almost 8 per cent.

The corresponding figure for October through September 1975-76 was 28,638. This is an increase of 38.1 per cent for the two-year period.

From Polish Royal Line

Francis Sledzinski Turns 80

Francis J. Sledzinski, longtime Lemon Grove resident and descendant of Polish royalty, celebrates his 80th birthday today at his San Diego home just north of the former site of Polonia Acres, his family's estate once renowned throughout the county.

The two-acre site at the corner of Broadway and College Avenue in far western Lemon Grove, now occupied by a Denny's restaurant and Gibraltar Savings, until 1965 was the Sledzinski home.

It was extensively landscaped with flowers and trees —landscaping remains one of Sledzinski's hobbies — and hosted a flagpole flying the American and pre-Communist Polish flags, as well as the grave of Sledzinski's mother, the former Princess Filomena Wojciechowski, or Pajak, one of a royal Polish line dating back to the 14th century.

The princess, married in 1893 to Sledzinski's father John after fleeing Poland in the wake of a Russian invasion, lived on the Polonia Acres estate, originally six acres, from 1921 until her death in 1941.

She had asked to be buried on the estate. John Sledzinski died in 1948 and was buried at Greenwood Memorial Park in San Diego, where Princess Filomena's body was moved in 1965 after Francis Sledzinski and his brother Thaddeus sold the family property.

Most of Polonia Acres, where the Sledzinski brothers moved in the late 1930s to be near their parents, was taken over by the State of California in 1953 for the construction of Highway 94, but the piece that remained, bearing the princess' grave and proudly flying the flag of pre-Communist Poland, was a county landmark for many years thereafter.

For Francis Sledzinski, now of 3612 Nassau Dr. in San Diego, near College Grove Shopping Center, this story and the accompanying pictures are a birthday surprise instigated by his niece, Filomena Tafoya of San Diego, who is named after the Princess Filomena. The pictures are from family scrapbooks.

Sledzinski has never married, Mrs. Tafoya said, "which he claims jokingly is why he has 1921. As a younger man, Mrs. Tafoya said, he traveled extensively in his position as chief petty officer aboard the S.S. Acropolis.

Later, both he and his brother Thaddeus worked in the food service division at the U.S. Naval Hospital in Balboa Park, from which he retired in 1965 after 25 years' service.

At one time in the 1950s, according to a 1955 story in the Lemon Grove Review by Editor-Publisher Max Goodwin, the family was seeking to establish its legal claim to $25 million worth of royal gems and jewelry, gold and silver, dating to the 17th century, that was smuggled out of Poland before the Communists took over after World War II.

Princess Filomena's mother, who died in 1921 in New York, had chosen to live as a commoner in America rather than risk her life in quest of her fortune by returning to Poland, the brothers told this newspaper in 1955.

The claim has never been established, Mrs. Tafoya said this week, "because of the incredible amount of paperwork that would have been required." The fabulous treasure trove remains in a Canadian museum, held by the Canadian government.

Sledzinski currently attends St. Philips Episcopal Church in Lemon Grove. His brother Thaddeus and a sister, Caroline F. Derbonne, live in San Diego.

G'Mont Pharmacy Open 24 Hours

Grossmont Hospital pharmacy is now open 24 hours a day, seven days a week, announced Administrator Ron Dahlgren.

"Although the change went into effect September 1, so that the pharmacy could provide more services to in-hospital patients, the general public may also come in to have prescriptions filled," Dahlgren said.

He added that this is the only pharmacy in east San Diego city and county open 24 hours.

Persons seeking service after midnight must enter through the emergency room entrance as the main entrance will be closed at that hour.

Grossmont Hospital pharmacy is presently being expanded to provide greater service to the community and patients. Remodeling is expected to be completed about February.

Hospital Seeks Student Volunteers

An orientation session for high school students who want to work as volunteers at Grossmont Hospital will be held from 5 through 6 p.m. next Tuesday in the hospital auditorium.

Area Obituary

Eugene Leroy Eminger

Services were held Wednesday for Eugene Leroy Eminger, 64, of Pacific ave., Lemon Grove who died Sunday at his residence.

A native of New Mexico, Eminger came to the county 38 years ago and was a butcher at the old Ranchers Market at the corner of Broadway and Massachusetts in Lemon Grove. He retired in 1975 after 30 years in his trade.

He is survived by his wife Maxine, 2 daughters; a sister and 4 grandchildren.

HERE'S THE PREZ — Tom Stein, owner-operator of Dutch Cleaners, 7870 Broadway, Lemon Grove, and obviously a man who wields a mean iron, has been elected president of the San Diego County Dry Cleaners Association. Stein, a four-and-a-half-year member of the association, said the group promotes "the idea of good dry cleaning and fair treatment in the industry." It also carries an on-going program of education for its members. Stein's term is for one year. The association meets monthly and has a full-time staff at its headquarters at 3913 Ohio St. in San Diego.

Want To Get Bit By A Spider? Find One That's Not Hungry

Most of the creatures that go creep in the night—around Halloween or any other time —can't really hurt you. That includes most of the spiders spinning webs across some ghostly threshold or the nooks and crannies of your own home.

Even the fierce-looking North American tarantula has a bite that's not worse than a bee sting and isn't poisonous, according to the Regional Poison Center at UCSD Medical Center.

But the San Diego region does have two species of spiders that can hurt: the black widow and one known variously as the fiddleback, violin spider and brown recluse. Although their bites vary in intensity and danger, in cases of doubt or prolonged symptoms it's best to get to a doctor or hospital emergency room, said Dr. Bruce Cromer, pharmacy resident at UCSD Medical Center. Both spiders are in this area year around.

The black widow is larger but the bite of the fiddleback may also have serious—even fatal—effects. A long-legged brown spider about a half-inch long, with markings on its back that resemble a violin, its relatively painless bite is easily recognizable even when you haven't seen the spider itself.

The bitten area becomes red and warm, a blister forms surrounded by a white area, and another red ring which is tender to the touch forms around that—giving the whole thing the appearance of a bulls-eye. When the blister opens, a black scab forms, which sloughs off to leave a wound that heals slowly and painfully and may spread out

Most of the time, not enough venom will be disgorged to require special treatment but if a blister forms within the first day after the bite or the area bitten becomes extremely painful, or if the victim feels ill or faint, Dr. Cromer advises calling your doctor or going to the emergency room at the hospital at once.

The black widow spider is about an inch and a half long and is marked on the underbelly with a red or orange hourglass. Its bite will usually subside after causing some pain and muscle cramping. Severe bites, however, produce muscle cramping and pain that spreads, rigidity of the abdominal muscles, and a state of mental confusion and jitteriness.

Victims whose pain is severe or continues to worsen or spreads, as well as children under 16, and persons over 60 who have hypertension, should immediately consult their doctor, check in at an emergency room or call the Poison Center at 284-6000, Dr Cromer advises. An anti-venom is available for severe cases of black widow bite.

A consoling thought as you study your next spider web: in general, spiders are shy and will run away from people rather than bite unless surprised by a hand reaching into a box or under a rock. If you touch one, try to make sure it's already had dinner. The amount of venom it will disgorge is directly tied to whether you're the dessert or the appetizer for its meal.

Stonehenge Topic Of Feature Film

"The Mystery of Stonehenge," a feature-length documentary on the mysterious prehistoric stone monument on England's Salisbury Plain, is scheduled at the Natural History Museum this weekend, November 4 and 5.

The 59-minute black and white film, produced in England in 1965, documents the theories on origins and uses of the circular series of stone monoliths considered by some to be an observatory and by others to have functioned as a computer.

Showings are scheduled at 1:30 and 3 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday in the museum auditorium. Children are admitted free. Adult admission is included in the $1 general museum entrance fee.

Outdoors & Travel

By E. L. "Buck" Rogers

One reason so many neophyte travelers flock together in groups or coveys is because they just don't know what to expect in a foreign country.

What, of you travel to do things, not just gape at old churches and historic monuments, this mode of travel won't work. If you wander off the beaten path, as I do, you have to do things on your own.

Individual travel is very feasible if you know what you're doing and exercise common sense. That's what this column is all about.

The first piece of advice is: don't lose your passport. This document is your identification in a foreign country. It is stamped and dated when you enter and leave.

Since passports are usually only required when entering and exiting a country, I don't carry mine during the interim period. It stays locked in a briefcase or piece of luggage in my room where it's safer than in a pocket.

Some countries also require a tourist card for identification. Such documents, obtained from an airline like Braniff International, are simple questionnaires to be filled out prior to arrival at your destination. When you go through customs both of these forms are stamped. One is retained by the official, and the other returned to you. Make sure you keep it because you will need it again.

Some nations' regulations require you to present it upon departures or you don't leave. Some countries allow discounts if you carry it during your stay. In certain instances restaurant taxes may be waived when a tourist card is presented.

Most countries have restriction on the amount of liquor or cigarettes you can import, and the U.S. has strict regulations not only on bringing back liquor but also on agriculture products. Handguns are usually more trouble than they're worth. Sporting rifles and shotguns can be taken along, but need a prior permit.

Tourists get ripped off usually as a result of carrying too much cash and not taking proper care of it. For example, a Columbian friend of mine recently visited Florida with his family. While in Miami he hid $5000 in cash beneath the mattress in his hotel room. Apparently a hotel employee, wise in such matters, relieved him of his money and the U.S. vacation was curtailed.

Don't carry excessive amounts of cash, either here or abroad. Don't publicly flash about what you do have. Carry the standard credit cards—American Express, Diners, and Visa. Take a checkbook, and convert cash into traveler's checks before leaving home.

Problems with pickpockets can be prevented by avoiding crowds and keeping alert in such situations. In such cases, I literally keep a hand on my billfold until I can get away from the press of people.

Most of the things I've mentioned are just commonsense procedures. If you'll observe these simple precautions, traveling on your own can be a challenging and trouble-free experience.

Health, Resource Guide Published

San Diego County's first comprehensive HEALTH & RESOURCE GUIDE is now available, publisher Patricia Doering announced today. The GUIDE, first of its kind here, provides information on health services for the entire County, in a 225-page 5x8 booklet.

Produced by a private firm, Community Resource Group, publication of the GUIDE culminates more than a year of research and accumulation of data.

According to Doering, there is presently no other guide like it in the County which is due, she says, to both graphics and content. "Over 300 different services are listed," she said. "And we've been very careful to provide a unique index system alphabetically, functionally and geographically." Coverage includes editorial material on How to Select a Hospital, What To Do About Depression, An Interview With Margaret Mead, Alcoholism, Drug Abuse: A Continuing Problem and An Aging Viewpoint.

Both private and public agencies providing services are listed under such headings as Advocacy, Home Health, Probation, Speech/Hearing, Women's Services, Children/Youth Services, Clinics, Community, Health, Professional Groups, Developmentally Disabled, Mental Health, Social Agencies and Ambulance and Hospital Services.

Each section is indexed by number, for easy readability.

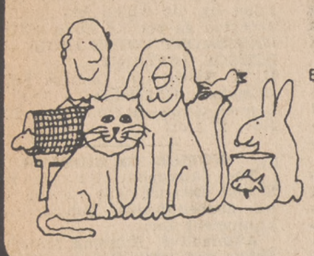
YOU AND YOUR PET



By Robert L. Stear, D.V.M.

Skin Tumors

Your pet's skin is a sensitive organ that performs numerous functions important for its survival.

Like any organ, it is susceptible to injury — cuts, infection, and sometimes troublesome tumors.

A tumor is usually defined as an uncontrolled growth of tissue. Tumors can be benign or malignant.

A benign tumor is usually slow-growing, round or oval in shape and generally does not interfere with the functioning of the pet's vital organs.

In contrast, a malignant tumor often grows rapidly and destroys normal tissue.

Cells from a malignant tumor can break off and travel through the bloodstream to other parts of the body.

The most common form of benign tumors in dogs are warts. Generally seen in older dogs, warts can appear singly or in groups. Warts pose no threat to the pet unless they are irritated by friction from a collar, the floor or other hard surface. In such cases, your veterinarian may recommend surgical removal of the wart so it does not become infected.

Of course, not all skin tumors appear as warts. Some tumors resemble festering sores or small growths under the skin that you feel rather than see.

The tumor may be a firm, enclosed mass shifting under the pressure of your fingers or an inflamed fluid-filled cyst.

Female dogs, in what appears to be a skin tumor on the underside of the body can be a breast tumor and should be examined by a veterinarian.

As with other tumors in dogs, most are benign and can be readily removed.

The treatment recommended for skin tumors is not always surgery. Sometimes X-ray treatment is effective; often specific types of tumors disappear spontaneously over one to three months.

Skin tumors are more serious when they occur in cats. In more than 50 percent of the cases, these tumors are malignant and should be surgically removed.

Certain breeds seem especially prone to ulcerating growths along the tips of the ears—possibly as a result of too much sun.

Generally, there is no sure way for the average pet owner to distinguish a benign tumor from a malignant one. In fact, veterinary research has not yet identified all possible causes for tumors in pets. Viruses seem to be primary agents but parasites, bodily injury or exposure to certain chemicals also contribute to tumor growth.

Any lump or growth on or under the skin is potentially serious.

It's important to consult your veterinarian for diagnosis and treatment at the first sign of an unusual growth.

Fine Arts Gallery To Become San Diego Museum of Art

The Fine Arts Gallery in San Diego's Balboa Park will soon have a new name: The San Diego Museum of Art.

A resolution to make the change was unanimously passed by the Board of Trustees of the Fine Arts Gallery and adopted by Fine Arts Society members at a special meeting held in September. The change had been recommended by the consulting firm of Jerold Panas & Partners of San Francisco.

In announcing the change, Frank Kockritz, president of the Board of Trustees of the Gallery's Fine Arts Society, said:

"We are a museum in the full sense of the term, one of the top 20 art museums in the United States. With a proliferation of small, commercial art galleries springing up during the last decade, the term 'gallery' has taken on a new and popular meaning. To visitors, and even to residents who do not know the Gallery well, it is a misnomer.

"We hope that by making this simple name change, we can avoid any misunderstandings, indeed gain a full understanding of and appreciation for, our outstanding museum of art in San Diego."

Henry G. Gardiner, director of the Fine Arts Gallery, said "the Fine Arts Gallery has long been a museum except in name. I welcome the change."

The Fine Arts Gallery, located in the center of Balboa Park, was built in 1926, a gift to the City of San Diego by Appleton and Amelia Timken Bridges.

In less than 30 years, the Gallery had world famous collections of great Dutch, Flemish, Italian, and Spanish Renaissance and Baroque paintings, most of the collection donated by the Misses Anne R. and Amy Putnam. Many other San Diego area art collectors had contributed American, modern European, and Oriental arts in all media.

By the 50's the Gallery had truly become a general art museum, providing the public with opportunities to participate in art-related activities through regular classes, lectures, and workshops. To carry out these activities and to house its tremendously increased collections, it was necessary to expand.

The Timken Gallery, housing all of the Putnam Foundation collection, was built in 1965.

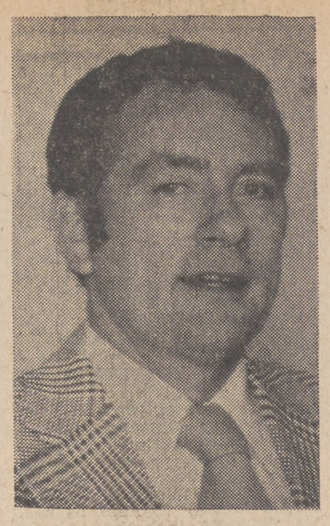
Ask Your C.H.P.



C.H.P Capt. C. M. Douglas

Last time Capt. Douglas discussed California's point system on traffic citations. If you have a question, no matter how insignificant it may appear to you, ask it. It could save your life — or at least save you a citation.

Address your questions to this newspaper and wait several weeks for your question to appear.

This week's question:

"The law regarding U-turns was changed a couple of years ago and I am still confused about where U-turns are legal. Can you clear this up for me?"

Capt. Douglas' answer:

Generally U-turns are permitted unless prohibited by a sign. The following is a list of where U-turns are prohibited even though a sign may not be present:

1. In a business district, except at intersections or on a divided highway, except where an opening exists.

2. In a residential district where any vehicle is approaching from either direction within 200 feet.

3. In front of a driveway entrance or the approach to any fire station.

In addition, no person shall make a U-turn upon any highway where the driver of such vehicle does not have an unobstructed view for 200 feet in both directions along the highway and of any traffic thereon.
